

Social Media Policy

Context and overview

Key details

- Policy prepared by: Paul Stephens
- Policy became operational: November 2017
- Revised: June 2018
- Next review date: June 2019

Introduction

Employees of WE Bridge Academy can access social media services and social networking sites at work, either through company IT systems or via their own personal equipment.

This social media policy describes the rules governing use of social media at WE Bridge Academy and sets out how staff must behave when using the company's social media accounts. It also explains the rules about using personal social media accounts at work and describes what staff may say about the company on their personal accounts.

This policy should be read alongside other key policies (Emergency Procedure and the Safeguarding Policy). The E-safety and Acceptable ICT Use Policy is particularly relevant to staff using social media.

Why this policy exists

Social media can bring significant benefits to WE Bridge Academy, particularly for building relationships with current and potential customers.

However, it's important that employees who use social media within the company do so in a way that enhances the company's prospects. A misjudged status update can generate complaints, could offend or damage our reputation. There are also security and data protection issues to consider.

This policy explains how employees can use social media safely and effectively.

Policy scope

This policy applies to all staff, contractors, interns and volunteers at WE Bridge Academy who use social media while working – no matter whether for business or personal reasons. It applies no matter if social media use takes place on company premises, while travelling for business or working from home.

Social media sites and services include, but are not limited to:

- Popular social networks like Twitter and Facebook
- Online review websites like Reevoo and Trustpilot

- Sharing and discussion sites like Delicious and Reddit
- Photographic social networks like Instagram and Snapchat
- Question and answer social networks like Yahoo Answers
- Professional social networks like LinkedIn

Responsibilities

Everyone who operates or is linked to a company social media account, or who uses their personal social media accounts at work, has a responsibility for implementing this policy. However, the following have key responsibilities:

- The social media coordinator is ultimately responsible for ensuring that WE Bridge Academy uses social media safely, appropriately and in line with the company's objectives.
- The e-safety coordinator is responsible for monitoring WE Bridge Academy's posts, interactions and performance and to remove inappropriate content that may appear on our social media sites. Profanity filters are set on the current sites we use including Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.
- The marketing team are responsible for working with the social media coordinator to communicate marketing ideas and campaigns through our social media channels.

General social media guidelines

The power of social media

WE Bridge Academy recognises that social media offers a platform for the company to perform marketing, stay connected with customers, interact, and build a profile online.

WE Bridge Academy encourages employees to use social media to support the company's goals and objectives and represent us in a positive way.

Basic advice

Regardless of which social networks employees are using, or whether they're using business or personal accounts in company time, following these simple rules helps avoid the most common pitfalls:

- Know the social network. Employees should spend time becoming familiar with a social network before contributing. It's important to read any FAQs and understand what is and is not acceptable before posting messages and updates.
- If unsure, don't post it. If an employee feels a post or update may cause offence, upset or a complaint – or be otherwise unsuitable – they should not post it. Staff members can always consult the social media coordinator for advice.

- Be thoughtful and polite. Observe basic good manners online. Employees should adopt the same level of courtesy used when communicating via email.
- Look out for security threats. Staff should be on guard for social engineering and phishing attempts. Social networks can also be used to distribute spam and malware. Further details below.
- Keep personal use reasonable. Although WE Bridge Academy believes that having employees who are active on social media can be valuable, unless specific to your job role, personal use on social media should be restricted to break times and out of core hours.
- Don't make promises without checking. WE Bridge Academy's social media channels are all public, which means anyone can view the content. Employees should not make any promises or commitments on behalf of WE Bridge Academy without checking these promises can be delivered. Direct any enquiries to the social media coordinator.
- Handle complex queries via other channels. Social networks are not a good place to resolve complicated enquiries and issues. Once someone makes contact, employees should manage further communication internally (by email, phone or in person).
- Don't escalate things. It's easy to post a quick response to a contentious status update and then regret it. Employees should always take time to think before responding, and hold back if there is any doubt at all.

Use of WE Bridge Academy's social media accounts

This part of the social media policy covers all use of social media accounts owned and run by the company.

Authorised users

Only people who have been authorised to use WE Bridge Academy's social networking accounts may do so.

Authorisation to use our social media networking accounts will typically be granted when social media-related tasks form a core part of an employee's job.

Allowing only designated people to use the accounts ensures the company's social media presence is consistent and cohesive.

Creating social media accounts

New social media accounts may only be created by the social media coordinator. The company operates its social media presence in line with a strategy that focusses on the most appropriate network, given available resources.

If there is a case to be made for opening a new account, employees should raise this with the social media coordinator.

Purpose of company social media accounts

WE Bridge Academy's social media accounts may be used for many different purposes. In general, employees should only post updates, messages, or otherwise use these accounts when that use is clearly in line with our overall objectives. For instance, employees may use company social media accounts to:

- Respond to customer enquiries and requests for information
- Share relevant articles and other content created by WE Bridge Academy
- Share insightful articles, videos, media and other content relevant to the business, created by WE Bridge Academy and others
- Provide followers with an insight into what goes on at WE Bridge Academy
- Promote marketing campaigns and, on occasions, special offers
- Support new initiatives

Social media is a powerful tool that changes quickly. Employees are encouraged to think of new ways to use it and to put those ideas to the social media coordinator.

Inappropriate content and uses

WE Bridge Academy's social media accounts must not be used to share or spread inappropriate content, or to take part in activities that could bring the company into disrepute.

WE Bridge Academy should not be seen to favour specific companies, organisations or individuals. All content should be reviewed before posting.

Use of personal social media accounts at work

The value of social media

WE Bridge Academy recognises that employees' personal social media accounts can generate many benefits. For instance:

- Staff members can make industry contacts that may be useful in their jobs
- Employees can discover content to help them learn and develop in their role
- By posting about the company, staff members can help to increase our presence online

Personal social media rules

Acceptable use:

- Employees may use their personal social media accounts for work-related purposes at break times and out of the company's core working hours.

- Only staff authorised to use WE Bridge Academy's social media accounts may do so during working hours, providing there is a genuine reason to do so (such as posting updates and monitoring interaction).
- Social media should not affect the ability of employees to perform their regular duties.

Talking about the company:

- Employees should ensure their social media account does not represent WE Bridge Academy's views or opinions
- Staff may wish to include a disclaimer if posting about WE Bridge Academy: 'the views expressed are my own and do not reflect the views of my employer'.

Employees should be aware of the security and data protection issues that can arise from using social networks.

Maintain confidentiality

Users must not:

- Share or link to any content or information owned by the company that could be considered confidential or commercially sensitive.

This might include details of key contacts/agents or information about our future strategy or marketing campaigns.

- Share or link to any content or information owned by another company or person that could be considered confidential or commercially sensitive.

For example, if a competitor's marketing strategy was leaked online, employees of WE Bridge Academy should not mention it online.

- Share or link to data in a way that could breach the company's data protection policy.

Protect social accounts

- Company social media accounts must be protected using strong passwords that are changed regularly and only shared with authorised users, if applicable.
- Whenever possible, employees should use two-factor authentication (often called phone verification) to safeguard company accounts.

Avoid social scams

- Staff should watch for phishing attempts where scammers may attempt to use deception to obtain information relating to either the company or its customers.
- Employees should never reveal sensitive details through social media channels. Customer and student identities should always be verified before information is shared or discussed.
- Employees should avoid clicking links in posts, updates and direct messages that look suspicious. In particular, users should look out for URLs contained in generic or vague-sounding direct messages.

Policy enforcement

WE Bridge Academy reserves the right to monitor how social networks are used and accessed. Additionally, all data relating to social networks written, sent or received through the company's computer systems and network is part of official company records.

WE Bridge Academy can be legally compelled to show that information to law enforcement agencies or other parties. Knowingly breaching this social media policy is a serious matter. Users who do so will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

Employees, contractors and other users may also be held personally liable for violating this policy.
